A Heart For Zambia (A Zambia Life Book 2)

Synopsis

Join Moira Cooke and husband Robert as they battle to save starfish stranded by the tidal wave of HIV Aids in Zambia. Meet Mr Banda, as slippery a head teacher as you're ever likely to meet. Battle along with the Cookes to gain entry to Lusaka prison. And read how Moira copes when an orphan asks her to be her mother! 'These people sent from God, have a real heart for us and for our children!' Quistin Chalwe of the Faith Orphanage Foundation. If you enjoyed Moira's first book, The Story of the Building of Kaputula School, then you'll laugh and cry in turn again at this second account of their work with orphans and vulnerable children in Zambia's poorest communities.

Customer Reviews

Good book. It paints a picture of the real struggles of Zambia. It also illustrates what one must go through to help the poor in Zambia. A must read for those thinking about volunteering to help those in need in Africa. As a Zambian born I can relate to some events in this book.

For those wanting a British perspective on trying to do charitable work in Zambia. I have read both books. Could use better editing but not bad enough to make me quit reading. You know who successfully builds schools for orphans in Zambia? Greer Kendall of Family Legacy.
