Rocky,I cut my Spiritual teeth on Brother Kenneth E. Hagin books in1984.Understanding what true faith is, hearing from the Heavenly Father and obeying His word and the leading of His Spirit.Without Faith it's impossible to please God but we must believe that He exists and is a rewarder of them who diligent my seek Him.May we remain true to being the Lord's remnant.

Once again God uses Kenneth E Hagin to provide direction, correction and discipline in my Christian walk. His practical, Bible centered teaching make it easier to set a course of action in walking In obedience, not only in finances but in many areas of life!

I enjoyed it. Very mind opening and easy to read.

Another nugget of wisdom from the Hagin franchise. Kenneth E. Hagin (dad) stressed two things: read and do God's Word, and think, say and act as if it's true. Say what you want to have what you say. Read and study the Bible so you know better how to say and have what God so wants you to have. Anything with a title of obedience puts people off. Add finances to that and you get, "I can't afford the expenses I have now. Can't I just pray and let God take care of His finances? These Christian leaders are shysters anyway. They don't know what it's like to work for a living!" Hagin says this: trust God with your finances and you magnify His works in this world. So He will magnify your work and your finances. I used to wrestle with questions like, "How will I pay my bills if I pay God? Do I tithe on the gross or the net income? I'm stressed as it is!" When my husband died 15 years ago and I lost my job I finally said, "Ok God. I owe you a tithe of my finances. From here on, I will give it first, off the top." You might think, well that was big of you, anyone can tithe nothing of nothing. For two years my finances were shaky, but I left finances to God's care. With income even now (widow's benefits from my husband's shaky work history) presently under $10,000 a year (and paying out more than a tenth of that in inherited tax debts) lets me live miraculously well. Yes I have credit card debt I'm working to pay off. Yes my living expenses are about equal with what I take in (and a little more. Hence the credit card debt). But God has always met my needs. Since He provides my income, asking only 10% of it as acknowledgement of that fact, it makes sense that I pay up and I pay proudly. I contribute to the advancement of His kingdom. He looks after my little kingdom. My house is paid off (as was my last, 5 years ahead of time. The $30,000 proceeds from its sale, saw me through two years of unemployment, even with tithes and offerings from that money). My car is paid off. It's over 20 years old, but runs like a top, drives smoothly and gets 30 mpg. Do I need a new car? Why? This one works fine. I live as well now as I did 30 years ago on 3 1/2 times the income. I read this to see if I could improve my obedience. I can, and I am working on that. Read this yourself. Test God and see if He won't take great care of you.

The way of The Almighty! You can not go wrong! Freedom from the heartache and headache of debt. Get it. Do it.

Papa Hagin Has inspired me since I was Young. I love and I eat all of the fruits of the Word of God that He has taught and inspired me through out the years. Anyone Whom Receives His Tools Will Be Blessed as they apply it to focus and walk the Pathway towards the Cross Amen!

Obedience in Finances was a great quick read about how to trust God with your finances. It was full of scripture on the subject. Kenneth Hagin is always the go to man on building your faith in God for any area of your life and this book was the same. It calls you to go deeper with God by releasing any fear/bondage that have built walls against your faith in this area. I will pass it on to a friend after reading it a second time. This is a small book that would be good to stick into a gift for a new Christian.

A good book that reminds me of the goodness of God when I'm obedient to him. The key is to be obedient to God no matter what he ask you to do. He has our best interest at heart and he is a good God that can only do good towards us.
