Customer Reviews

James Patterson has had more New York Times bestsellers than any other writer, ever, according to Guinness World Records. Since his first novel won the Edgar Award in 1977 James Patterson's books have sold more than 300 million copies. He is the author of the Alex Cross novels, the most popular detective series of the past twenty-five years, including Kiss the Girls and Along Came a Spider. He writes full-time and lives in Florida with his family.

I like these novellas I guess you call them. They get to the point from the start, none of the fluff writers put in to add the number of pages.

The bookshot plots are too simple for an experienced Patterson reader. Pay a little more for his regular length novels.

Beautifully written, excellent and memorable characters. This is a little different from the author. If you like stories with action, this is it. From cover to cover, it's all action. Fast moving. You won't want to stop once started.

Kept my interest even though you knew how it would end up. The action was over the top. The fact that a young mom of a 4 year old could do all those super human feats without water or food was a little laughable but endearing also. Fun book.

Heading off on a nice vacation -Miranda, her husband Aaron and daughter Sierra are in a car accident and are forced off the road. Fighting to survive, they quickly realize it was no accident and every second counts.

This short novel is better than a lot of the longer ones I have read. Thought the ending was a little anticlimactic, but it is a short novel. Good, quick read. Recommend

I read this book and carefully figured out who was up to no good. It is based on a businessman plan that goes in to shady territory with some shady people.

I felt like I was holding my breath throughout this book. Good thing that it is short. So much is packed in to this story. James Patterson does it again.
